The British foreign minister does however leave open a door for further negotiations, should the United States officials decide to proceed further with the controversy.

The portion of the note from London which is attracting the major amount of the attention of the American officials is that section which is devoted to the subject of peace.

Replies To U. S. Contention

Earl Grey takes up the contengovernment that the necessity for a blacklist does not exist. The American position has been that there is no need for such a move on the part of the Allies, in as much as nothing which is done in distant neutral nations can inthere is no reason why the warthe commerce of such nations.

Rumanians Are Reported To Be Falling Back Once More Before the Powerful Thrusts of the Armies Under Falkenhayn

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.)

D ARIS, November 15-For the ad time since the commencement of the British offensive north of the river Somme the troops under the command of Sir. Douglas Haig yesterday captared Beaucourt

Twice before attacks of the Britsh infantry and artillery successfully landed the attackers on the crest of the ridge which dominates the surrounding country and in the shell seared and racked French vilen out owing largely to the fact that they have been hirtherto unable to carry with it the supporting points of St. Pierre Divion and Beaumont Hamel. Monday those points fell into their hands as the first fruits of the last great rush agamst the Germans.

Offensive Continuing

There is as yet no sign that the present offensive, one of the greatest this front has seen, is slacked ing in intensity. Sir Donglas Haig is reported to be pouring men and guns into the crack he has effected in the Teutonic lines and the attackers are said to be pressing forward with unabated fury, as the reinforcements come to swell their numbers and the line of assault widens and deepens.

Over the full five mile front yeserday the attack was cont and trench after German trench fell into the hands of the British. The official reports of the fighting told of the increasing number of jerman prisoners which the attack s netting, and put fhe total last night at more than five thousands

German Losses Huge If this number is correct this brings he total number of German prisoners aken by the British since the inception f the Somme offensive to more than forty thousand, and the grand total aken by both French and British at omething between eighty five and ninety thousand men. Figures based pon these are being quoted by the mil-tary observers bare and in Great Britain to support their claims that he Germans bave lost half a million men in the Somme River fighting.

Aside from the gains made by the British troops on the Ancre River they attacked in force easterly of Butte de Warencourt, three miles south of Bapaume vesterday and made marked mins there as well as farther west. Teutons Attack French

South of the Somme the Germans esterday opened a particularly heavy ombardment upon the French post ions in the region of Pressoire, but made no infantry attacks of any im-nortance. The French are reported to have held their lines lutact in spite of the terrible gun fire.

On the Russian and Austro Italian fronts there has been but little activty during the last few days; but the lustrium are reported to have driven he Committee out of positions held by Canube south of the city of Orsova, of far from the celebrated Iron Gate.
